

Friday, 7 February 2014

Good evening [my scribe], this is your Heavenly Father Jesus.

I want you to write as often as you can, daily, if you can manage it. There is more that I wish to say to my children through you, my scribe. You were shown, at the beginning of your meditation, a coat of arms in a vision that I gave to you. This coat of arms represents the lost tribes of Israel that are scattered throughout the world today. You see, my children, that all of mankind in every location, every nationality, every race, and gender comprise all twelve tribes of Israel.

I do not differentiate in my love from one nation to the other. I love all my children on earth wherever they may be. You are all dear to me. I love you all equally. I do not look at the race that you are from, the colour of your skin, or your religious background, or the status of your education. What matters to me is what is in your hearts, your love for me, and how you express your love for me, your Heavenly Father.

I wish all my children on the earth plane to get to know me by developing an appreciation of my creations. By observing my creations in nature, you will get to know me, your loving creator. The beauty in nature that you can observe will enable you to get to know me, to get a glimpse of the many wonderful creations in the universe that I have created for you to enjoy.

By observing my works in nature, you will begin to understand how delicate a balance there is in nature and the beauty of my creations. At the apex of my creations is man. The crowning glory of everything that I have created. You have often heard the term to “take out time to smell the roses.” I wish that you, my beloved children who read these messages, would take out time, literally, to smell the roses that I have created for your enjoyment.

My love for you my children is profound. You cannot begin to imagine how much I love you. If you wish to get to know me better, please go out in nature and observe my creations. They are there waiting for you. My nature will give you peace and contentment. It will also heal you, but you need to try.

Take time out in your busy lives to go for a walk in a park and hug a tree. This will cleanse you from the negativity of the world and will balance your emotions and senses. Speak to me while you are in the park, and ask me to heal you. I will then do my part to cleanse, heal and inspire you. By adopting that practice in your life, you will feel refreshed and rejuvenated. It will also help you to clear any emotional blockages that may have affected you.

I hope you can see now that my nature was created to heal you, my dear ones. Try to meditate while in nature, as this will give the best healing results, and you will be rejuvenated after spending some time in this way or manner.

My dear children, it is I, your Heavenly Father that knows what is best for you. It is truly me that is providing these messages for you through this scribe. Will you give it a try? To go out in nature and use this wonderful creation that I have made for you to enjoy, to heal yourselves and to get to know your creator who only wants what is best for you.

This is sufficient teaching, my dear ones, for one evening. My scribe is still at work and needs to go home to be with his family. I give you my love and blessings my dear children from your Heavenly Father who cares for you and loves each and every one of you very much.

Go in peace and in love, my dear children. Amen.